writing submission guide 2020

We only accept original pieces that haven't appeared anywhere else (including your personal blog).

If you have more than one submission, please submit each piece in separate emails.

Please submit only Google documents with 12 pt, Lora font.

Single space between sentences, double space between paragraphs.

Do not indent paragraphs.

Posts must be under 800 words.

Inside the document, please have the suggested title of your post, then your name.

Example:

A Wife Like Me

By Amanda Davison

When submitting a post, the name of your document must be the MONTH YEAR, NAME.

Example: April 2020, Amanda Davison

If quoting a verse from the Bible, include the translation from which you are quoting.

Example: "'For I know the plans I have for you,' declares the LORD, 'plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.'" Jeremiah 29:11 (NIV)

Please limit paragraphs to no more than 3 sentences in length. If bullet points, numbered headings, or bolded sentences make sense in your piece, feel free to use them. We want the text to be easy to skim, and these tweaks can help the reader quickly intake the information. However, please do not change the color or size of any font.

The general tone of your post should feel more "me, too" than "how to" and should be considerate to offer encouragement to women in various ages, stages, and seasons of life.

Posts should follow the flow of beginning with a hook story, which allows the reader to access your pain point and identify with it. Then your post should transition into hope and finally, healing.

Post should include a "Wife Step" at the end with a clear and practical way the wife can do something right now that will be of benefit to her. Please review current posts at awifelikeme.com for better understanding of our format and tone.

Take the time to have someone else read your post for clarity, grammar, spelling, and punctuation before submitting, or run it through an online editing system like Grammarly.

Images are not necessary to include in your post submission.

Please do not submit posts under an alias.

We look forward to reading your submission!
